Henry County Fair Dates.

Sept. 30, Oct. 1, 2, 3, 1914.

Statements made by Gen. Howard and his friends that Mr. Sims is not a resident of the district and pays no taxes might do to tell where the facts are not known, but here in Perry county where he pays almost two hundred dollars a year taxes and where he has kept his residence, such canards will not go.—Perry County News.

Every Democrat is expected to do his duty on Thursday, August 6.

Go to the polls Thursday, August 6, and vote for the Democratic nominees.

Your being for the man won't elect him. The thing to do is go to the polls next Thursday and vote for every Democrat on the ticket.

Judge Williams brought the Judiciary into the mire of politics in 1914. Let's help him take it out on August 6, by electing his opponent, Judge Robt. Burrow.

Thousands of Democrats in Tennessee who have refrained from voting in Tennessee for the past four years will vote in the August 6th election. This means Democratic triumph.

Every Democrat, past and present, in Henry county, should go to the polls Thursday, August 6, and vote for the county nominees, Judge Burrow and Judge Scott. They are all worthy of your support.

From reports gathered from all sections of the county we are assured that Congressman Sims has made a hit with the people by remaining at his post in Washington while his opponent has been "shelling the woods." Work is the eternal watchword of our Congressman.

The entire Democratic ticket, state, county, and congressional, ticket is at the top of the editorial column of this paper and we give cordial support to all of them, first because they are Democratic nominees, but also because they are better men than their opponents on the Republican ticket.

"A damned fool"—that's what King Hooper called the Rev. H. E. Hendricks, a Methodist preacher of his home town, Newport. The reason is that the preacher decided that he would this year vote for Tom C. Rye, although he had voted for Hooper twice. Men of God, if you want to stay out of the "damphool" class, don't let Hooper know you are going to vote for Rye.

There is no reason why a Congressman should be away from his duty campaigning over the country for re-election, when his presence is needed in Washington. Mr. Sims is only faithfully performing his duties at the seat of government, where the people elected him to perform them during sessions of Congress. He is not losing any strength among the rank and file of the people by remaining in Congress and performing his public duties.

Victoriano Huerta, who overthrew the Mexican government and imprisoned President Madero, who was afterward assassinated, and has ruled as dictator, has resigned and fled the country. Huerta resigned and turned the government over to Provisional President Carbajal some days ago. He went to the port of Puerto, where he remained until Monday night, when the signs of mutiny grew so strong among the soldiers that the dictator's wife and friends prevailed on him to take refuge in a German ship which sailed for Jamaica that night. He was accompanied by his wife, three daughters and Gen. Blanquet, daughter. Huerta's rule in Mexico has been short and turbulent and the possibilities are that he will never return.

Final Word to Democrats.

Before another issue of The Parisian has come from the press the general election to be held August 6, will be history. We feel that it is fitting to say a final word to the Democrats of Henry county before the battle of ballots. The issue in the election is Democracy against Republicanism. The Democratic party is the majority party in Tennessee, and the result of the election to be held next Thursday rests with the Democrats of the state. If the party of Andrew Jackson, James K. Polk, Aaron Vail Brown, Isham G. Harris and James D. Porter is to be victorious in the election Democrats must come out and vote. There can be no doubt of the result if Democrats do their duty by voting and seeing that their friends vote.

The polls open at 9 o'clock Thursday morning and close at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon in each voting precinct of Henry county. Every Democrat should make it a point to vote early and none should stay away. The Republicans will be there on time, and to win the Democrats must also do their duty to their party.

In the race for Supreme Judge the Democratic nominee, that splendid jurist, high-toned gentleman, and sterling Democrat, Judge Robert Burrow, is opposed by Judge Sam C. Williams, an appointee of Hooper and the nominee of the Republican party. Williams is a partisan Republican candidate. He was given the office he now holds by the Republican Governor and obtained his nomination at the hands of the Republican convention at the very same session in which Hooper was nominated for governor. Judge Burrow was nominated by the Democratic Judicial convention, which was held previous to the convention which nominated Gen. Rye for governor, and therefore it cannot be truthfully said that Judge Burrow is a partisan or political candidate. Democrats should come out and vote for Judge Burrow to a man as his election will make absolutely certain the election of Gen. Rye in November.

Junge D. E. Scott, of Lexington, a native of Henry county and an able jurist and faithful Democrat, who was nominated for Chancellor by a large and representative convention of Democrats of the Eighth Chancery division, is also opposed by a life-long Republican and appointee of Hooper. Judge Scott's integrity is above reproach. He is a lawyer of long and successful experience in Decatur and Henderson counties, and his election will mean much to Gen. Rye, as well as meaning that Henry and other counties will have Democratic clerk and masters.

"We should not swap horses in the middle of the stream"—vote for Sims.

All indications point to the election of Judge Robert Burrow to the Supreme Court bench. Democrats should see that his name is on all democratic tickets. His opponent, Judge Williams, is the nominee of the Republican party and secured the nomination by asking for it. He never asked for the democratic nomination and evidently did not want democratic votes. The name of Judge Williams will be on every republican ballot in the state. The name of Judge Burrow should be on all democratic ballots. It is the duty of all democrats to look after the interests of Judge Burrow on election day.

"Keep the Judiciary out of politics," is the slogan of the Williams-Hooper machine and the Nashville Banner. The question naturally arises, "who brought it into politics?" Did Judge Williams announce for the office subject to the August election or did he seek a party nomination? There is not a man in the state of Tennessee who does not know that he sought a party nomination and a REPUBLICAN party nomination at that. He asked for the nomination of the Republican party and it was given. He has never yet asked for a nomination at the hands of the Democratic party.

"We should not swap horses in the middle of the stream"—vote for Sims.

We do not believe there is a Democrat in the district who will not approve of the course of action on the part of Congressman Sims. This is the kind of man we need in Washington—one who will attend to his official duties and not so much to his own personal affairs. Stay by your work in Washington, Mr. Sims, as long as your duties call you there, and the voters of the Eighth will see to it that your interests are taken care of at home. Henry county is going to give you a big majority on August 6th. How to the line; let the chips fall where they may.

While we read of the coming and going of congressmen to their respective homes, many doubtless desirous of repairing their political fences, it is a pleasure to note that the Eighth district congressman has remained on the job faithfully performing his duty. Thomas W. Sims is a diligent, conscientious official. This loyalty to duty is but characteristic of the man. He has long since proved himself loyal to the great trust imposed in him by the people of this district. We need more men like Thetis W. Sims in congress.

Gen. Rye replied to the letter of W. R. Hamilton in such a clear, straightforward way that none could misunderstand his position. Still, Gov. Hooper took it for a text in reply to Mr. Hamilton's letter. Gov. Hooper did not seem to discover the bad taste exhibited in delaying his reply until Gen. Rye had answered, and then undertakes to criticize him. The way it was done looked so much like collusion between him and the secretary.—Covington Leader.

"We should not swap horses in the middle of the stream"—vote for Sims.

PEOPLE'S FORUM

Has a Kick Coming.

While the writer was hauling logs Wednesday of last week at Fryer's mill, the bridge across the mill race fell in letting team, wagon and driver down eight feet into the water. Fortunately there was no damage done.

The wagon tongue caught in the bank and kept the wagon and logs off of team and driver, thereby averting what might have been a serious accident.

This bridge is on the new road which is the only connection between the Old Sixth and the Old Seventeenth districts, without going eight miles out of the way by Elkhorn or another way by fair grounds. This road was donated to Henry county by the writer and G. L. Fryer, and the county should accept it as a county road and keep the bridges so the lives of teams and drivers will not be in constant jeopardy when passing over them, and if the present Supervisor, Mr. Williams, and the county commissioners will not accept this new 30-foot road which is now in fairly good condition (except bridges) we should act at once and send a man to the next legislature who will at least show the farmers some consideration in regard to such important matters. We are taxed more and more each year and those who have gone to represent us have come around before elections asking about Johnnie and Betsy Ann and their case of measles, but just as soon as elected they are too apt to forget us.

Now, the writer is not seeking office, but thinks we will never get what we want without sending men to represent us who will step down and out if he fails to carry out his promises to his constituents. The larger part of Henry county's citizens do not want the present road law any longer and should vote for a good man who will not longer let the best interests of the farming class go begging.

Joseph T. Johnson of that state, now serving his seventh term. Through him South Carolina is represented on the great Committee of Appropriations, and to show his standing in that council he is given charge of the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation. It takes a man to handle that—a man of experience as well as a man of talent.

Is South Carolina anxious to surrender that place? A hundred,—yea, three hundred members from other states, would jump at it if Johnson should be retired from Congress.

PENITENTIARY OFFICIALS SHOW MUCH PARTIALITY

That at least one convict in the state penitentiary has been flogged to death, and many others, men and women, beaten unmercifully for trivial offenses in the statement made by A. J. Williams, of Jackson and formerly of this county, who has just been released from the penitentiary. Williams was sent up from Madison county for five years, and has served four years, obtaining one year to his credit for good behavior.

Williams says a convict who was found counterfeiting money in his cell was given 50 lashes with a whip. Several weeks later he was given 100 lashes with the edge of the strap the convicts call "Big Bettie. The blows of the whip tore into the flesh, tearing loose one of the tendons under the knee which control the action of the foot. He was made a cripple. Williams stated that the convict died and the prison officials said that he was paralyzed in one leg and death was due to tuberculosis.

"Women are whipped just as the men," said Williams.

"Lists," he says, "are kept at the prison telling whether a convict is a Republican or a Democrat, and the Republicans are allowed privileges that the Democrats never get."

He charges that trustees, instigated by men "higher up," have been carrying baskets of stamped envelopes and stationery to the prisoners for the purpose of writing home to their friends in the interest of Gov. Hooper.

health. I SHALL STAND FOR FEDERAL AID IN BUILDING ROADS. The Government can do these things as well as irrigate the lands in the West, and levee the Mississippi River, and build a railroad in Alaska. Don't understand that I am criticising any bill passed by Congress providing for these things above referred to; but only mention them to show the extent of the Government's ability and willingness to do everything helpful to the public. I shall also stand for and advocate all legislation that will be of material and moral benefit to the people. I endorse President Wilson's administration.

Hope to have the benefit of your support in my efforts for promotion on August 6th, and assuring you of my appreciation for what you will do for me, I am,

DROUTH OVERCOME BY SCIENTIFIC FARMING

Jackson, Tenn., August 27.—Prof. H. S. Nichols of the United States Department of agriculture, with headquarters in Jackson, states that the real test of scientific farming was not found wanting. Had it not been for the farmers of West Tennessee carrying out instructions given by the farm demonstration agents to the effect that they plow deep in the spring and then follow with shallow cultivation, the crops of this section could not have withstood the drouth that has worried everybody except the farmer for the last four weeks. The crops in Madison county are looking well, and the farmer does not know how to account for it—but the farmer does. It's scientific farming as demonstrated by the government and state agricultural agents.

CHANCELLOR ROSS TO VOTERS OF HENRY CO.

I am a candidate to succeed myself as Chancellor of the Eighth Chancery Division of Tennessee.

Four years ago it was established as a precedent by the people of this state that the Judiciary should be non-partisan. Two years ago when Judge A. S. Buchanan, an appointee of Governor Patterson, was elected as one of the Judges of our Supreme Court without opposition, because of his recognized ability, as a jurist, this principle was reaffirmed. Again this year, in recognition of this same principle, the members of the bars of Memphis, Jackson, Union City, Nashville, Knoxville, and many of the cities and larger towns in Tennessee, regardless of their political affiliations, have endorsed the candidacy of Judge Sam C. Williams.

Believing in the soundness of this doctrine, and that politics should have no place in a judicial election, I have therefore placed my candidacy before the people as a whole. I am neither the nominee or the candidate of any party or faction.

In voting for a candidate for a judicial office nothing but merit should be considered. No one approves of a Judge being influenced in his decisions by any political prejudice or preference. Then why should politics be considered in the election of a Judge? I therefore feel that I can consistently call upon the people regardless of their political persuasions for their support.

The Chancery Court, though little visited by the people, is one of the most important of the lower courts of our State and in as much as it is attended principally by the lawyers of the various counties, naturally they are the first to ascertain as to the qualifications or merits of the Judge holding the court, and I take pleasure in stating that the lawyers throughout the division, with very few exceptions, are giving me their support. I likewise find that in almost every section of the division the people as a whole are laying politics aside in so far as this office is concerned.

Since the first day of January, I have been almost constantly in court and have had no opportunity whatever to devote any time to my campaign. Inasmuch as the machinery of the court would have been stopped had I deserted my duties, I did not believe it right that I should adjourn court in order that I might look after my own interests. I felt that it was my duty to attend to the office, and have done so. Because of this it will be impossible for me to visit each and every section in the twelve counties composing this division and see every voter, as I should like to do. I must necessarily rely upon my friends and those interested in my behalf for my success, and I assure you that I shall appreciate your support at the election to be held on August 6th.

Respectfully,
J. W. ROSS.
